The Finance department has allotted Rs. 500 crore in the FY 2020-21 for smooth running of West Bengal Bina Mulya Samajik Suraksha Yojana 2020. WB Bina Mulya Samajik Suraksha Yojana

The West Bengal Chief Minister Mamata Banerjee requested Finance Minister to include landless labourers as beneficiaries under Bina Mulya Samajik Suraksha Yojana (BMSS). Till date, there are 1.18 crore families which are enrolled under the Samajik Suraksha Yojana (SSY). The number will soon go upto 1.5 crore. In case there are 5 members in every family, the total number of beneficiaries would go upto 7.5 crore. All the poor people belonging to various unorganized sectors would be able to get Provident Fund (PF) and other benefits on attaining the age of 60 years.

Poor people will have to pay single penny from their pockets. Previously, people needs to pay Rs. 25 per month while govt. used to contribute Rs. 30 for each beneficiary. The govt. has announced that there is no longer need to pay premium as govt. will bear entire cost. In case of death of beneficiaries, the family members would receive Rs. 2 lakh. In case someone gets disabled, each beneficiary will receive Rs. 1 lakh.

(adsbygoogle=window.adsbygoogle||[]).push({});

CM has requested Finance and Labour dept. to make premium completely free as poor people belonging to unorganized sectors were facing difficulty in paying Rs. 25 per month. The CM also urges Finance Minister to bring landless labourers under Bina Mulya Samajik Suraksha Yojana.

The TMC party leaders will visit villages to boost morale of booth workers, influential people in the area.

Moreover, these leaders will listen to those people who voice grievances or raise concerns.

The BJP's rise in Bengal is a grave concern for the TMC party, especially after its resounding win in the general elections, where it won 18 of 42 seats. The Trinamool lost 12 seats and bagged only 22, so CM wants to raise its tally to the previous number or even more than that.

CM Mamata Banerjee is ready to fight back and make comeback by targeting to win back her rural support by resolving the issues of extortion at the local level and corruptions. She had also urged party leaders to get down to the block level and work for the people.
