NITI Aayog has made a special reference to the scheme in national water index report. Union agriculture ministry is inviting the states to give presentations on MJSA so that other states can implement it. Mukhyamantri Jal Swawalamban Abhiyan has resulted in around 4.66 feet increase in the ground water level. 63% hand pumps and 20% tube wells have been revised in villages which were covered under MJSA.

Various water storage structures are proposed to be created in around 4,000 villages in 4th phase. In the previous 3 phases of Mukhyamantri Jal Swavlamban Abhiyan, over 3.80 lakh water storage structures have been created in around 12,056 villages.

Features of Mukhyamantri Jal Swavalamban Yojana (MJSA)

MJSA was launched in January 2016 which is a multi-stakeholder programme aimed at making villages self-reliant in the meeting basic water needs with special emphasis on drinking, domestic and live stock water requirements. Creation of water storage structures, revival of old structures, watershed development, water conservation activities are carried out through convergence of schemes of various departments. The important features and highlights of Mukhyamantri Jal Swavlamban Yojana are as follows:-

Making villages self-sufficient in water & creating "Islands of Excellence".

This is a 4 year program where each phase is of one year.

Works are being carried through people's participation.

To mobilize financial resources from multiple sources like line departments, NGOs, corporate houses, religious trusts, non-resident villagers, social groups etc.

To construct low water harvesting structures on watershed approach by the use of technology.

This MJSA scheme will result in emergence of self-water reliant villages, increase in ground water level, availability of drinking water, increase in irrigated & cultivable area. This would result in change in the

In 2014, the state government of Rajasthan has introduced the Bhamashah Yojana and Bhamashah card to empower women. Under the scheme, the women from below poverty line (BPL) families are benefited through direct benefit transfer. The beneficiary of the scheme will get the amount directly into their bank account.

According, Bhamashah card is a family card which is issued in the name of the woman because she is considered as the head of the family. In addition, the Bhamashah card is mandatory for claiming birth, death and marriage certificates. However, this card has become biggest hurdle to the beneficiaries because they are depriving of getting benefits of schemes like the Prime Minister Awas Yojana-Gramin (PMAYG), Mukhyamantri Rajshri Yojana etc.

Initially, the Bhamashah card was not mandatory to avail the benefits of the schemes but the state government made the card mandatory in June 2017. Therefore, that beneficiary has without the card, are excluded. Moreover, under the Bhamashah Yojana, the eligible beneficiary cannot take the credit beyond the limit of Rs. 50,000. Hence, the authorities cannot release the second installment, under PMAYG scheme, which is more than Rs. 50, 000.

Bhamashah Yojana and Bhamashah card

In 2016, the Mukhyamantri Rajshri Yojana was launched to encourage girl child education and arrest female foeticide. Under the scheme, a new mother of a girl child is receiving Rs. 2,500 on the completion of one year. In addition, if all vaccinations are done, the second installment of Rs. 2,500 also gets in the account of the mother.

In absence of the Bhamashah card, only 12.55% beneficiaries in Barmer district could get the second installment. In addition, thousands of beneficiaries in Barmer district have been deprived of availing benefits under the PMAG and Rajshri schemes.

(adsbygoogle=window.adsbygoogle||[]).push({});

According to the data, about 9,206 beneficiaries received the first installment between June 2016 and October 2016. But the government made the card mandatory in the month of June 2017. Hence, the beneficiary of the first installment couldn't claim the second installment because they had not the card. The data revealed that in absence of the Bhamashah card, the health department did not release the second installment to 8,050 registered beneficiaries in Barmer district. Mere 1,156 (12.55 %) have been able to get the second installment.

PMAY – Gramin

The concerned authority is requesting from people to enroll their name for the Bhamashah card so that they can avail the benefits. Apart from this, PMAYG is a housing scheme which was launched by Prime Minister Narendra Modi in June 2015 to provide an affordable house with proper sanitation and power supply. In the Bhamashah account, the upper credit limit is Rs. 50,000 that's why authorities didn't release the second installment of Rs 60,000. Therefore, the central government has ordered to decreased the amount of the second installment from Rs. 60,000 to Rs. 48,000 for the current financial year.

Moreover, the government has urged to the beneficiaries of previous years to convert their 'Jan Dhan' account into the general account. However, the state government has informed that they are not willing to convert the Bhamashah Yojana account into a general account. For this reason, the beneficiaries of PMAYG are still deprived of the second installment because their accounts have under Bhamashah Yojana. The chief executive officer at Barmer Zila Parishad has suggested that the beneficiaries get details of another account so that they can release the second installment of Rs. 48000.

(adsbygoogle=window.adsbygoogle||[]).push({});

Highlights of Agriculture Connection Policy-2017

The scheme will only be applicable on connections of up to 20 horsepower approved by bureau of energy efficiency and for five-star rated pump sets.

The farmers who are replacing their standard motors will receive subsidy amount of Rs. 750 per horsepower from the government. However, motors must be replaced with five-star rated pump.

The interest rates on amount paid for power connections that were cut off has been slashed from 16% to 12% yearly and can be reconnected under this scheme.

If the connection demand note was an issue within five years then the farmers will have to pay Rs. 500 to get their connection.

During the deposit of demand draft, farmers can erect electric lines if the option is available.

According to the govt. notification, farmers who are receiving the subsidy under solar pump sets will not be able to take benefit of second agriculture connection in general category. For them, govt. will soon announce a new separate policy. It should be noticed here that under the scheme, govt. has given relaxed provisions for martyrs' families. These family can apply for agricultural connections anytime. Earlier, it was mandatory in the agriculture policy to apply for connection within twelve years of the death or within two years of getting ownership of land.
